

This week, SFC Clayton White, an army recruiter, came into class to talk about his job, what the army does, and what it was like for him and family during a year long deployment. He encouraged the children to find a way to serve their community especially when they are older.

I'll be wrapping up mid-term testing next week. Those are sent home Friday, November 19.

We will dive into the origins of Thanksgiving and why it's important to be thankful. We call it an attitude of gratitude.

In math we divided shapes into equal parts, introducing the concept of fractions.
